TALMAGE REPORTS ON TINTIC DELMAR

Declares Humbug Lime Can Easily be Traced Into Company's Ground-Believes Property Promising.

(Special to The News.) Provo, Dec. 12.-Dr. James E. Talnage has examined the property of the Tintic Delmar Mining company in the north Tintic mining district and has made an encouraging report to the directors of the company in this

The estate consists of 27 full claims The estate consists of 27 full claims and a fractional claim, situated about two miles north by east from the Humbug mine; all the claims have been surveyed for natent. The principal development work is a tunnel, 260 feet in length, with a drift 20 feet in length, which ends in a small cave, about 10x7 feet, and 10 feet high, in which a winze has been sunk to a death of 18 feet. which a winze has been sunk to a depth of 43 feet. The winze is in a broken and cavernous limestone with small deposits of fine grained material of a sandy nature, appearing as a local accumulation, which assays well in lead and silver.

GIVES REPORT

Dr. Talmage after giving reasons for the belief that ore bodies will be open-ed up on this large property and ap-proving of the work done with this object in view says:

"Easterly from Pine canyon in its northwesterly course the formation within your property is sedimentary and comprises an extensive series of within your property is sedimentary and comprises an extensive series of limestone beds. The so-called 'Humbug' limestone is easily traced as a belt of approximately 150 feet in whith, with a general northwesterly strike and a dlp practically vertical. It is within this belt and more especially near the contact of the 'Humbug, mineralized deposits may be most confidently sought. The intersections of such contact with the cross-break alphady referred to are the most promising localities for ore occurrences.

SIMILAR FORMATION.

"If any reliance is to be placed on analogy between the structural fea-tures of your property and those of the tures of your property and those of the ore producing regions to the south you have an excellent prospect of encountering mineral denosits by reason of work as indicated above. I believe that such analogy holds; and while you are to be regarded as the ploneers in mining exploration in this immediate region, your prospects for successful development are in all respects good, and the reward of persistent good, and the reward of persistent work and successful achievement will be correspondingly great. "I congratulate you upon the posses-sion of so promising a property and trust that you will complete your title to the claims and prosecute mining work on an adequate scale. As stated above, I regard the undertaking as a sound and commendable business enterprise and one that should appeal to prudent and conservative mining

PIPE TO SPRINGS.

Surveys for a pine line to bring water from springs less than three miles distant have already been made. The company's property has a good growth of cedar and pinion pine trees suitable for light mining timbers on its property, and the Denver & Rio Grande Relived in these Railroad is between two and three miles from the wor' lugs.

BOISE KING PLACERS WILL SOON PRODUCE

Seven Miles of Flume to be Built to Carry Water for Hydraulic Mining of Gravel Bed.

According to Arthur W. Stevens, a mining engineer of Boise, Idaho, who is engineer and superintendent of the Bolse King Placers company, which owns 640 acres of placer property on the middle fork of the Boise river, the property will within a year be producing and a dozen giants will be working over the gravel. Mr. Stevens says that with the finishing of a seven mile flume and the installation of eight or 10 No. 4 glants the property will be fully equipped for rapid prodit has been found that this gravel it has been found that this gravel averages 20 cents to the yard in coarse gold. It is on the north side of the river that the new work is necessary. All improvements have been put in on the south side of the river.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The company now has reservoirs, dams, six miles of ditches, flumes, penstocks, piping, glants, locomotive headlights, amalgamator, pack train, tools, implements, a camp consisting of nine well constructed buildings and a good saw mill with a capacity of 18,000 feet day. The company has any amount

According to Mr. Stevens, a No. 4 giant will, under a 200-foot pressure, wash 2,000 cubic yards of gravel per day. It is the intention of the company to begin work on the flume in March, 1911, and it should be finished by Aug. 1, 1911. In that event the company expects to be producing by the last of 1911.

During the working season the company has had on an average 20 men employed. They have thoroughly pros-pected the property so that a general average of values has been obtained. It is said that not a barren spot has

The company is declared to be free from indebtedness and as soon as it raises an additional $40,000 to install the improvements on the north side of the river $425,000 will have been expended on the property.

In sluicing 863 yards of gravel Mr. Stevens declares he secured $286 worth of gold. Of this amount he asserts $200 was found in the first three boxes while was found in the first three boxes while the under current caught only about 50 cents in gold.

WERE VERY HEAVY

New York, Dec. 12 .- The heaviness of the Harriman issues was the most conpicuous feature at the opening of the clined a full point in the early transaction with a loss of 1 in Southern Pacific. Chesapeake & Ohio declined a point and Chesapeake & Ohio declined a point and the leading industrial issues, such as United States Steel, Amaigamated Copper and American Smelling were off substantial fractions. A few unimportant gains were recorded. Additional fractional losses were scored, bringing a number of important stocks into the range of 1-point losses, such as Reading, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, United States Steel, Amaigamated Copper and American Smelting. The market then seemed to have found a resting level and later hardened slowly, the principal stocks making up the greater part of their losses.

The November tonnage report of the United States Steel corporation, the suit of the federal government against the Southern Pacific Railway company, and the failure of our bankers to secure any of the South African gold delivered at London were used as excuses to depress prices, but the absence of any liquidation under this pressure caused the usual covering movement. A further rise in Lehigh Valley and the strength of other issues in this class was ascribed to last week's decision affecting the anthracite coal roads. By noon prices were ruling at about Saturday's closing. Colorado & Southern gained 2 points, Lehigh Valley II and Delaware & Hudson, National Lead and Pressed Steel Car 1.

Bonds were easy.
The strength of the coal stocks had a stimulating effect on the market but were was a general failing off in the rading after the important stocks had made up their forenoon losses. Reading and American Beet Sugar Improved 1 and Norfolk & Western II.
There was no activity to speak of during the early afternoon, prices ruling about where they left off last week on very small dealings. The American Smelting stocks advanced a point. Prices were running off at 2 o'clock.

The market closed weak. Another vigorous attack was made against the market and prices were forced down to the carly low level or below, Union Pacific touching 163. The selling was brisk and spirited and when it ended, the list showed a little inclination to harden.

The two men were identified with the sugar fraud cases.

An indictment was returned in the federal court of New York in 1909, charging the American Sugar Refining company, its directors, Gustave E. Kissel of New-York and Thomas B. Harned of Philade-shia, with conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

It was alleged that the object of the conspiracy was to prevent the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company from doing business. The result, it was alleged, was accomplished through Kissel acting secretly as the agent for the American Sugar Refining company, loaning to Adolph Segal, who controlled a majority of the stock of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, the sum of $1,250,000 and taking as security the control of Segal stock in the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company. All this time, it was alleged, the name of the lender was kept a secret by Kissel.

Following the loan, it was charged, a new board of directors for the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company was elected and this board, acting in the interest of the American Sugar Refining company, closed up the refinery of the Pennsylvania company.
